

VernissageTV has its own web site now!

When we started covering opening receptions on Heinrich Schmidt * Video, we never expected this could be such a success. After we have been featured as selected video podcast on iTunes, our subscriptions soared to incredible numbers. Feedback was overwhelming. Thank you very much for your interest and support.

You encouraged us to take the next step. The present web site at <http://heinrichschmidt.blogspot.com> has its limitations. For what we want to achieve with VernissageTV we need a new one. Here it is:

Web site: <http://www.vernissage.tv>

RSS feed: <http://feeds.feedburner.com/VernissageTV>

At VernissageTV we will cover opening receptions and events in the world of art, design and architecture. For you we will talk to artists, gallery owners, visitors, curators. We will give you an authentic insight in the world of art.

Of course, Heinrich Schmidt * Video will stay as a platform for video art and videos on works of art and artists. But for opening receptions and interviews, VernissageTV is the new place.

Most of you use iTunes to watch our episodes. With the introduction of the new Video iPod there is an easy way to take VernissageTV with you. All future episodes will be delivered in iPod compatible format.

VernissageTV is an open network. So if you like to contribute, participate, sponsor, donate, syndicate... you are welcome! Have a look at our support page or talk with Karolina (contact@vernissage.tv).

Again, thank you very much!
